

Architectural Firm Nor-Son Creates Custom Entrance

In an architect's world, image is everything. That's why the Brainerd-based architectural firm, Nor-Son, knew its new headquarters had to be distinctive.

As the area's leading architecture firm for residential and commercial building projects, Nor-Son knew that its building would say a lot about who they were as a company. So, when it came to designing a unique and welcoming entrance, they turned to Larco for assistance with their automatic door installation.

A Unique and Welcoming Statement

Teaming up with the architects at Nor-Son, Larco developed a unique entrance that would immediately welcome customers and visitors into the building. The Larco design included a customized mat that echoed the Nor-Son logo and corporate brand.

Additional features of the installation included custom anodized trim and guide rails designed to match the entrance and building facade, and a custom-designed mat shape that echoed the octagonal front of the building.

Larco worked with Nor-Son to design a unique entrance for their building. By developing detailed drawings that fit directly into the building's blue-prints, Larco helped make construction and installation a snap.

Ready to make a great first impression?

For more information on how Larco can work with you to design a unique entrance, or for more information about the benefits of using Larco automatic door products, visit our website at www.larco.com.

AT A GLANCE:

The front entrance at Brainerd-based architecture firm Nor-Son features a custom designed mat with the company logo, customized trim and guide rails. The logo illustrates Larco's custom monogramming capabilities, which enables any mat to become a signature piece welcoming visitors to your building.